Criteria for the Individual Award

An award will be made to the young person who demonstrates good citizenship by making an outstanding contribution to their local community or to an international education project. Any kind of positive community work will be considered, from voluntary work to showing a strong character in difficult times. The winning young person must demonstrate some or all of these characteristics:

- strong participation in school/community/overseas work;
- a positive attitude towards classmates, school and community;
- an understanding and appreciation of civic responsibility;
- strength of character and courage to do what is right;
- to promote citizenship within the school or community through other activities.
